The monarch assessment and treatment center aims to empower patients through education, skill-building, and therapeutic support, ultimately enhancing their quality of life.

Assessment Services

Accurate and thorough assessment is the foundation of effective treatment at the monarch assessment and treatment center. The center offers a variety of diagnostic evaluations designed to identify mental health conditions and functional impairments. These assessments are conducted by licensed clinicians using standardized tools and clinical interviews.

Initial Intake and Evaluation

The initial intake process involves gathering detailed information about the individual's medical history, psychological background, and current symptoms. This step helps clinicians understand the specific challenges faced by the patient and formulate a treatment plan accordingly.

Psychological Testing

Psychological testing at the center includes cognitive assessments, personality inventories, and behavioral evaluations. These tests provide objective data that complement clinical observations and interviews, ensuring a comprehensive understanding of the patient's condition.

Behavioral and Functional Assessments

To evaluate how mental health issues affect daily functioning, the center conducts behavioral assessments. These may include observations in various settings and input from caregivers or educators to measure social, academic, and occupational performance.

- Standardized diagnostic interviews
- Cognitive and neuropsychological testing
- Behavioral observations and rating scales
- Functional assessments in real-life contexts
